Israeli Salad

Finely diced tomato, cucumber and peppers with herbs and lemon.

SERVES 4 TO 6 · TOTAL 30 MIN

INGREDIENTS

2	extra-large tomatoes
1	English cucumber
1 cup	red onion (about 1/2 medium)
1	red bell pepper
1	yellow bell pepper
1 cup	fresh herbs: parsley, mint, cilantro or a mix
1	lemon, zested, then juiced to taste (start with half)
1/4 cup	olive oil
	salt and pepper

METHOD

1. Cut the tomatoes, cucumber, onion and both peppers into a very small, even dice, and chop the herbs. The finer the cut, the better the salad, so take your time and use your sharpest knife.
2. Toss everything in a large bowl with the zest, olive oil, half the lemon's juice, salt and pepper.
3. Taste and adjust. If it seems flat, it usually wants more salt, then more lemon.

NOTES

- Watery salad: salt the diced cucumber and tomato and drain in a colander for 30 minutes before mixing.
- Keeps 3 to 4 days in the fridge, best in the first two. Ripe summer tomatoes make the biggest difference.
- Variations: dill works in place of the other herbs. A can of chickpeas, or some cooked quinoa, turns it into a main.
- Serve over a smear of hummus, in warm pita, or alongside Sheet Pan Chicken Shawarma with either tahini sauce.
